The Blanks and Trap-Doors

E-gress Tour Closing Event Presented by IMMA in partnership with Marie Brett

Thursday 14 July / Irish Museum of Modern Art

'E-gress tackles one of the more difficult aspects of ageing.

Its strength is its concern with humanity rather than the disease's pathology.' – Helen O'Donoghue, IMMA

'Extremely worthwhile ... Honouring the human condition' – Jon Hinchliffe, Alzheimer Society of Ireland

E-gress was produced by artist Marie Brett and musician Kevin O'Shanahan following an intensive collaboration with the Alzheimer Society of Ireland, informed by the concept of absence and presence and how ambiguous loss theory relates to an experience of dementia. This multi-layered film, a portrait of living moments on life's edge, invites us to contemplate loss, love and life itself.

This closing event marks the final stage of the E-gress National Tour; a mapping of reflections, inspiration and learning gathered along the way together with a presentation of new artworks and responses.

FUNDING

The E-gress National Tour, presented by artist Marie Brett, is principally funded by The Arts Council via a Touring and Dissemination of Work Award.

The E-gress Tour launched at IMMA and was exhibited in the Project Spaces during November and December of 2015. The work then toured to venues in Cork, Sligo, Waterford, Limerick, Kilkenny and Galway, prior to returning to IMMA for this special closing event.
