64th Annual and Scientific Meeting

Developing Cultures of Excellence in Ageing and Exploring the Needs of Marginalised Groups

The Malton Hotel, Killarney
29th September – 1st October 2016

#igs2016 @irishgerontsoc
WELCOME

Dear Colleagues and Speakers

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you on behalf of the Scientific Committee to the 64th Annual and Scientific Meeting of the Irish Gerontological Society in Killarney.

This is a fantastic opportunity for all of us to partake in a stimulating, challenging and ultimately rewarding conference where many issues pertinent to the lives of older people in our communities will be discussed and debated.

It is wonderful that such significant academic endeavour is taking place in Ireland on issues relating to older people in health, social policy, and economic arenas.

We hope that you find the wide-ranging programme of nearly 300 oral presentations and posters stimulating, and that you have an opportunity to share the knowledge that will contribute to the advancement of social and health policy, as well as improving interaction with our older citizens.

What you learn and experience over these few days may give you new ideas about how we promote healthy lives, consider the environments of care, address issues of autonomy, treat physical and mental ill-health and consider particular issues for marginalised groups.

In addition, we hope that you will find ample opportunities for networking and meeting new and familiar colleagues during the coffee and lunch breaks, social activity and while viewing the posters.

We would be very appreciative if you could visit the sponsors’ stands, both as an acknowledgment of industry support, but also because many aspects on display relate to improving life for older people.

I would like to thank the members of the scientific committee, the IGS Executive Committee, the IGS team, Miriam Ahern and Lucette Murray as well as our industry partners, for their contribution in making this event happen, a not inconsiderable task.

Mo Flynn
President
Irish Gerontological Society
WELCOME

Cuirim fáilte romhaibh go dtí Cill Áirne agus go dtí An Ríocht.

I am delighted to welcome you all to this year’s Irish Gerontological Society Annual and Scientific Meeting. I would like to thank our event associates: University Hospital Limerick Group, University Hospital Kerry, University of Limerick and Institute of Technology Tralee.

It gives me great pleasure to welcome our keynote speakers: Professor Bruce Guthrie, Professor Anne MacFarlane, Professor David Oliver and Patricia Rickard-Clarke.

My sincere thanks also to Professor Peter Kelly and Professor Joseph Harbison for taking time to update us on Stroke and Rehabilitation in Ireland as well as to Dr. Diarmuid O’Shea and Dr. Siobhan Kennelly for their Update on National Clinical Programmes for Older People.

Fantastic research and initiatives are being undertaken in care of the older person in Ireland. This is evident in our broad range of research topics including: dementia, frailty, care-giving, cognition, driving, bone health, falls, capacity, medications and delirium.

I hope that during our conference you take the opportunity to network with the platform and poster presenters, especially if there are opportunities to implement some of the research and initiatives in your own workplace.

The IGS is delighted to welcome the ISPGM annual meeting once again. For the first time, we will host special-interest group symposia, see page 29. I hope that the laying of the foundations of these groups here in Killarney will lead to many constructive and rewarding meetings in the years ahead.

We in the IGS are endorsing the “#hello my name is…” campaign. We have designed special lanyards for our delegates which I hope will be worn with pride. The late Dr. Kate Granger, founder of this campaign, recognised that staff did not introduce themselves to her during her admissions and felt that a very basic step in patient communication was missing. This campaign has been endorsed by a number of healthcare organisations throughout the world. On behalf of the IGS, I strongly encourage you to continue the legacy of Dr. Granger to be compassionate, caring individuals despite the challenges we face in healthcare today and to remember to always say “Hello my name is…….”.

Whether you are a newcomer to the IGS Annual and Scientific Meeting, or a regular delegate, I hope that you thoroughly enjoy this year’s event.

Sincere thanks to members of the local organising committee, the IGS executive committee and specifically to Miriam Ahern and Lucette Murray for making this meeting happen.

Elaine O Connor
Hon. Secretary
Irish Gerontological Society

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Prof. Bruce Guthrie
Prof. Guthrie is currently Professor of Primary Care Medicine at the University of Dundee Medical School where he leads the Quality, Safety and Informatics Research Group, which conducts applied research to translate basic and clinical research into effective and reliable clinical practice. He was previously a Medical Research Council Health Services Research Fellow at University of Edinburgh, an National Institute for Health Research post-doctoral research fellow at University of Dundee, and a 2006/7 Commonwealth Fund Harkness Fellow in Healthcare Policy at University of California San Francisco where he was also a Visiting Professor in 2010. His main research interests are the quality and safety of healthcare, particularly in primary care and currently focused on prescribing and the organisation of healthcare.

As well as conducting research, Prof. Guthrie practices clinically in a general practice in Cardenden in NHS Fife, and is a member of a number of National Health Service advisory bodies. In 2014, he was appointed the Scottish Primary Care Research Champion by Scottish Government Chief Scientist Office, and was appointed by NICE to chair the guideline development group for the NICE Clinical Guideline on Multimorbidity.

Prof. David Oliver
Prof. Oliver is the President of the British Geriatrics Society until the end of 2016. He qualified in 1989 from Oxford/Cambridge and has been a doctor ever since. He is a Consultant in Geriatrics and Acute Medicine at the Royal Berkshire Hospital where he has been since 2004. He was also a Senior Lecturer at Reading University until 2009 before becoming Professor of Medicine for Older People at City University. He led the Department in Reading for several years. From 1998 he was a consultant and clinical director in South London.

Prof. Anne MacFarlane
Anne MacFarlane Ph.D is Professor of Primary Healthcare Research at the Graduate Entry Medical School (GEMS), University of Limerick.

She is the first social scientist to hold a Chair in academic primary care in Ireland. Anne has 20 years’ experience of using qualitative research methods with a portfolio of completed health services research projects and educational research projects.

At University of Limerick, Anne has established an inter-disciplinary research group, with members from general practice, speech and language therapy, physiotherapy, sociology, psychology and biostatistics. The group are leaders in Public and Patient Involvement, specifically participatory health research with socially excluded communities. Anne has specialist expertise in migrant health working with key academic, community and policy stakeholders in Ireland and abroad. She has been successful in securing research income of over €7 million for primary healthcare research and development projects since 2002.

Anne graduated with a B.A. (psychology and sociology) from University College Cork in 1992. She completed her M.A. (1995) and PhD (1998) in the Department of Health Promotion, NUI Galway. She worked as a Research Fellow in University College London (2000-2002) before returning to NUI Galway where she held positions as a HRB Health Services Research Fellow and Lecturer in Primary Care in the Department of General Practice (2002-2011).

Patricia Rickard-Clarke
Chair of the National Advisory Council, Sage Support & Advocacy Service, Patricia Rickard-Clarke is a solicitor. In 2012 she retired as a Commissioner of the Law Reform Commission and was the lead Commissioner with regard to the Commission’s work on Vulnerable Adults and the Law (which includes the reform of the law on Capacity). She is Chair of the Law Society’s Mental Health and Capacity Task Force. She is a member of: the Council of the Hospice Foundation and a member of its Think Ahead Project Advisory Group of the Forum on End of Life, the HSE’s National Financial Abuse of Older People Working Group and the User Group of National Centre for the Protection of Older People (NCPOP) at University College Dublin. Patricia is a member of Council of the Royal College of Physicians of Ireland.
